

ATLANTA – The Appalachian Mountain Range begins in Northern Georgia and runs through the Great Smokey Mountain National Park of Western North Carolina. After you have done the Martin Luther King memorial center, the Coca Cola Headquarters, Olympic Park and sundry other tourist attractions head north. If you hear the theme from “Deliverance” being strummed off in the distance, be afraid, be very afraid, pucker up and run like the wind. In addition to the National Park check out the Vanderbilt Estate in Ashville, which could probably handle 108 holes and not even be noticed. Just in case, there is more golf in Henderson.
