

PHILADELPHIA – After visiting all the obligatory sites of the birthplace of American democracy, get out of town. Just north of Allentown and Bethlehem are the romantic Pocono Mountains. I can attest to this personally as that is where my parents probably conceived me. Also my son-in-law was born in Bethlehem, not to be confused with the one in the Middle-East, but in any event it allows for terrific bragging rights. He is a great young man, but once again not to be confused with the original version. If you are a racing fanatic and your timing is exquisite, check out the Pocono 400.
